

Announcing the Summer 2012 Teacher Programs

MARE: One Ocean, Interdisciplinary Instruction

When: July 17, 2012

Where: IMCS, New Brunswick

Cost: $50*

Grade level: K-8

Description:

Come learn from seasoned MARE teachers across multiple disciplines (literacy, science, physical education, cultures, etc.) about creative ways to incorporate ocean education into your classrooms and clubs.

* All meals will be provided.

MARE: Biodiversity & Bioluminescence

When: July 18, 2012

Where: Am. Museum of Natural History, NY

Cost: $175*

Grade level: K-12

Description:

Through talks with educators, scientists, and curators learn more about biodiversity in the Ocean Hall and the amazing world of the dark ocean through the Creatures of Light: Bioluminescence exhibit.

* Transportation and lunch will be provided.

MARE Community Day: Fish & Larvae

When: Aug 14, 2012

Where: Rutgers Marine Field Station, Tuckerton

Cost: FREE

Grade level: K-12

Description:

Come learn more about the amazing diversity and life histories of fishes and larvae from Rutgers marine scientists. Also, we will discuss ways to best bring ocean literacy and sciences into classrooms and clubs in New Jersey.

All meals will be provided.

MARE: Beaches, Adaptations, & Human Impacts

When: Aug 15, 2012

Where: Coastal NJ, out of Tuckerton

Cost: $150*

Grade level: K-12

Description:

Through presentations by local scientists and field trips to three different beaches along NJ, we will explore beach formation, adaptations of beach creatures, and human impacts on our coastlines.

* Transportation and lunch will be provided.

All Summer 2012 Teacher Programs will include a packet of accompanying lesson plans.

Each of the Teacher Programs is open to both MARE and non-MARE educators.

Participants are welcome to attend one or more programs over the course of the summer.

To learn more information and to apply for any or all of the Summer 2012 Teacher Programs, visit the Opportunities & Resources page at <http://coseenow.net/mare>.